

BIOGRAPHY

Waddell Blackwell

Waddell is an involved coach who enjoys the growth journey and difficult moments of breaking out of the comfort zone.

He uses relationship management as a foundation for building and extending leadership skills.

He works to align corporate objectives and values with those of the individual to create a strong grounding for consistent high performance.

His coaching style is one of working from the positive, respect for the wholeness of the individual, and creating a playful structured environment to learn and grow in.

He has lived and worked in Europe, Africa, and the US. He is currently based in Toulouse, France.